

course of their one-year graduate experience so project officers can gauge the impact and effectiveness of the training. After graduating, the scholars are requested to fill out an assessment to further our understanding of the course's impact. We also ask students to help develop communication and outreach materials to share the impacts of the scholarships with partners and the public.

Course enrollees are asked to complete pre- and post-training assessments which collects the following information:

- Trainee information, to include:
 - Name,
 - Gender,
 - Age range,
 - Institution represented,
 - Job title/position,
 - Contact information such as their include complete address, phone numbers, and email, and
 - Country.
- Trainee's assessment of training— Questions provide participants an opportunity to offer feedback on their training to help inform how we can improve project activities and goals.

- Potential effect of training on the trainee's job—Questions provide an opportunity for participants to share how the technical training provided through the scholarships may open professional opportunities.
- Knowledge of biodiversity and CITES—Questions are designed to measure the impact of training by quantifying changes in each participant's knowledge of biodiversity and CITES between pre- and post-training assessments.
- Capacity to apply knowledge on biodiversity and CITES—Questions are designed to measure the impact in training by quantifying changes in knowledge between pre- and post-training assessments.

The Service will use the information collected to ensure project activities are meeting high project standards and are achieving intended outcomes. In addition, information collected for project outreach and communication will be used to inform the public on project outcomes and to garner interest in future scholarship opportunities.

The public may request copies of the application form contained in this information collection by sending a request to the Service Information Collection Clearance Officer in ADDRESSES, above.

We may not conduct or sponsor and you are not required to respond to a collection of information unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number.

On August 12, 2022, we published in the Federal Register (87 FR 49878) a notice of our intent to request that OMB approve this information collection. In that notice, we solicited comments for 60 days, ending on October 11, 2022. In an effort to increase public awareness of, and participation in, our public commenting processes associated with information collection requests, the Service also published the Federal Register notice on Regulations.gov (Docket No. FWS-HQ-NWRS-2022-0087) to provide the public with an additional method to submit comments (in addition to the typical Info_Coll@fws.gov email and U.S. mail submission methods). We received the following comments in response to that notice:

Comment 1: Electronic comment received via Regulations.gov (FWS-HQ-NWRS-2022-0087-0002) from Jean Publiee on August 13, 2022. The comment did not address the information collection requirements.

Agency Response to Comment 1: The comment did not address the information collection requirements. No response required.

Comment 2: Anonymous electronic comment received via Regulations.gov (FWS-HQ-NWRS-2022-0087-0003) on September 1, 2022. The comment did not address the information collection requirements.

Agency Response to Comment 2: The comment did not address the information collection requirements. No response required.

Comment 3: Anonymous electronic comment received via Regulations.gov (FWS-HQ-NWRS-2022-0087-0004) on October 10, 2022. The comment did not address the information collection requirements.

Agency Response to Comment 3: The comment did not address the information collection requirements. No response required.

Comment 4: Electronic comment received via Regulations.gov (FWS-HQ-NWRS-2022-0087-0005) from Troy Heinert, as representative of InterTribal Buffalo Council (ITBC), on October 11, 2022. The comment provided background information for ITBC as an organization serving 78 member Tribes in 20 States, serving over 1 million enrolled Tribal members. The comment referenced past successful collaboration with the Service to restore buffalo to Tribal lands and affirmed the commitment of ITBC to seek future collaborations. While the comment stated that the form does not fully articulate what many Tribes are doing with the donated animals, it acknowledges that it is difficult to put a number on animals that may be intended for multiple purposes. The comment identifies ITBC's capacity to facilitate and implement bison donations from Service-managed herds.

Agency Response to Comment 4: ITBC's internal Surplus Buffalo Program Request for Proposals process helps facilitate bison donations from Service-managed herds through requests from member Tribes, and we incorporated ITBC comments provided in past years into the form. The Service looks forward to continuing our successful collaboration with ITBC to help restore bison as native North American wildlife to Tribal lands.

Comment 5: Email comment submitted to Bison Donation Request Form Outreach Coordinator on October 6, 2022, from Joshua Wiese, Range Manager of the Crane Trust. The comment states the questions and validations are warranted, and the form only takes about 10 minutes to read through and fill out completely. The comment suggested that additional clarification be added for bison use categories, and that an online platform/survey/questionnaire alternative might provide additional accessibility and speed up the process.

Agency Response to Comment 5: Comment validated the minimal time investment to complete the form. Descriptions of bison use categories are included in the text of the form, followed by a clear definition prefaced in bold font. Many donation requestors do not utilize electronic web-based platforms or the electronic fillable PDF with electronic signatures. Transitioning to a fully online system would likely exclude many applicants with less reliable internet access and would limit access to many of the communities which the form currently serves.

As part of our continuing effort to reduce paperwork and respondent burdens, we invite the public and other Federal agencies to comment on new, proposed, revised, and continuing collections of information. This helps us assess the impact of our information collection requirements and minimize the public's reporting burden. It also helps the public understand our information collection requirements and provide the requested data in the desired format.

We are especially interested in public comment addressing the following:

(1) Whether or not the collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the agency, including whether or not the information will have practical utility;

(2) The accuracy of our estimate of the burden for this collection of information, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used;

(3) Ways to enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and

(4) How might the agency minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, including through the use of appropriate automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology, e.g., permitting electronic submission of response.

Comments that you submit in response to this notice are a matter of public record. We will include or summarize each comment in our request to OMB to approve this ICR. Before including your address, phone number, email address, or other personal identifying information in your comment, you should be aware that your entire comment—including your personal identifying information—may be made publicly available at any time. While you can ask us in your comment to withhold your personal identifying information from public review, we cannot guarantee that we will be able to do so.

Abstract: The Service's "Bison Donations Transfer Protocol" (protocol) describes the process for the donation of the available surplus bison from the Service to eligible organizations, Tribes, or intertribal organizations as outlined in regulations at 50 CFR 30.1, as well as in Service Manual chapters 701 FW 5 and 701 FW 8. Surplus bison are offspring that exceed the ecological carrying capacity of the Service bison metapopulation. The primary purposes of donating these bison are to support conservation of the species as native North American wildlife and to assist in the restoration of bison herds on conservation partner lands, with special emphasis on restoring conservation herds to Tribal lands. Our authorities governing the Protocol include:

- National Wildlife Refuge System Administration Act (16 U.S.C. 668dd and 668ee, as amended);
- American Indian Religious Freedom Act (Public Law 95–341);
- Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act (Public Law 93–638, as amended);
- Surplus Range Animals (50 CFR 30.1);
- Disposition of Surplus Range Animals (50 CFR 30.2);
- Native American Policy of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (510 FW 1);
- Fenced Animal Management policy (701 FW 8); and
- Collections, Donations, and Disposals policy (701 FW 5).

In 2020, the U.S. Department of the Interior (DOI) Bison Working Group published the Department of the Interior Bison Conservation Initiative 2020 (initiative), recognizing bison as a wildlife species in need of conservation. Consistent with this initiative, Service policy identifies the ecological and cultural values of bison as nationally and/or historically significant animals.

The Bison Conservation Genetics Workshop: Report and Recommendations (2010 report) identifies DOI bison herds as a valuable source with which to start new conservation herds proposed by other Federal, State/provincial, or Tribal governments. The DOI Bison Report: Looking Forward (2014 report) acknowledges the challenges to achieving bison restoration on DOI lands and emphasizes the importance of partnerships for achieving bison conservation and ecological restoration. Both the 2010 and 2014 reports also identify the potential for bison herds maintained by Indian Tribes to contribute to species conservation, and the Service recognizes that such bison may also support Tribal cultural rights and practices.

Periodic reduction in the size of Service bison herds is required to remain within the ecological carrying capacity of Service lands. Live bison capture and removal assist in the restoration of bison to Tribal lands, support the efforts of States and other conservation organizations, and ensure that the ecological needs of other species are met on refuges of limited size. To support maximum conservation of genetic diversity within and across Service herds, selection of young bison available for donation is coordinated across all refuges. From the surplus bison made available for donation from refuges, requests will be prioritized for bison restoration and conservation purposes.

We propose Form 3–2555, “Bison Donations Request Form,” to request surplus bison. Respondents will generally be from Tribal governments and intertribal organizations, although we do expect to receive a small number of requests from States and private sector organizations (nonprofit and educational/research organizations). The request form provides details governing the protocol and collects the following information:

- Name of requesting Tribe, intertribal organization, State, or private sector organization.
- Documentation that the proposed project or program meets the definition of a conservation herd.
- Demonstration of the educational contribution of the donation to increasing public knowledge and appreciation of the wildlife values of bison (for educational and research organizations only).
- Total number (or percentage of total donation request) of bison and purpose of request:
 - Establish a free-ranging conservation herd;

- Supplement or augment a free-ranging conservation herd;
- Establish a self-sustaining herd for non-conservation purposes;
- Supplement or augment a self-sustaining herd for non-conservation purposes;
- Public display, educational purposes and/or research;
- Tribal spiritual or cultural purposes; or
- A description if “Other” purpose.

- Signature of requesting Tribe, intertribal organization, State, or private sector organization official.

In addition to completion of Form 3–2555, recipients of donated bison must inform the Service of the destination State for donated bison no fewer than 30 days prior to a scheduled bison capture operation, to allow the Service time to meet interstate transport regulatory testing requirements. Recipients of donated bison must also inform the Service of the destination physical address for donated bison no fewer than 10 days prior to scheduled bison loadout, to facilitate timely completion of required interstate veterinary permit applications and veterinary inspection certificates.

The public may download a copy of the proposed Form 3–2555 from the ICR on at <http://www.reginfo.gov>. Follow the instructions to review Department of the Interior collections under review by OMB.
